Privacy

By subscribing to a PPP service you consent to being sent news and offers related to your subscription or that may suit your interests by PPP, related companies and carefully selected organisations. On occasion PPP may provide your mailing address to third parties for direct marketing purposes. If at any time you do not wish your mailing address to be used for direct marketing or receive news and offers from carefully selected organisations please contact us directly by email, post or phone. It is a requirement that all newsletters, updates and special reports be sent electronically. If you no longer wish to receive these services you may cancel your subscription at any time.

We will never share or sell your email address to third parties for marketing purposes unless you have purchased one of our products as a result of being directed to our website via a third party's website and/or purchased one of our products through a third party website (such as but not limited to Educated Investor). In such cases, you agree for PPP to provide your personal information to the third party for their own marketing and account purposes. Please read the privacy policy of the third party from where you were directed or signed up to see how they will deal with your personal information.

We may occasionally send you advertisements but they will come from or be related to the e-letter where you signed up.

You may unsubscribe from any of our products or services at any time by post, by phone, or by clicking the unsubscribe link at the bottom of each email.

Our email marketing is permission based. If you received a mailing from us, it is because you are a client or have otherwise consented to the terms of this privacy policy. You may unsubscribe at any time by post, by phone, or by clicking the unsubscribe link at the bottom of each email.

When you provide personal information to Port Phillip Publishing you agree to the terms of our Privacy Policy. Please read our Privacy Policy.

Cancellation Policy, Pricing and Trial Periods

We reserve the right to refuse subscription. When you subscribe to a Port Phillip Publishing publication you enter into a continuing agreement for that publication, which is charged either yearly or quarterly ('the subscription period'), depending on the offer taken up.

Each subscription period must be paid in full prior to starting the subscription period. We will cancel your subscription if the subscription period is not paid in advance or if you give us written notice that you wish to cancel.

You will not be entitled to any refund of subscription fees if you decide to cancel your subscription during the subscription period (after any applicable trial period). A pro rata refund may be applicable on a case by case basis except for Lifetime Subscriptions which are non-refundable (see terms under the heading Lifetime Subscription below for more information on the terms relating to these subscriptions). The prices for new subscriptions will be communicated to you prior to subscribing. Our standard pricing is in our Financial Services Guide.

Each newsletter offers a trial period for new subscribers only. If you have subscribed to a newsletter previously and ceased your subscription for any reason, you will not be entitled to another trial period should you decide to resubscribe at a later date. A person deemed to be abusing the trial period feature may be refused subscription to other PPP products or services. Subscription fees must be paid in full before subscribing. Should you cancel within the trial period you will receive a full refund.

We can review and alter our prices for any subscription period at any time, except for Lifetime Subscriptions which are governed by the rules under the heading Lifetime Subscription below. Any changes to pricing for existing subscribers will take effect when your next subscription period starts. If the price for your next subscription period is to increase we will let you know before it changes.

Lifetime Subscription

Our lifetime subscription, Port Phillip Publishing Lifetime Partnership ('Partnership'), is open to a limited number of subscribers. For an initial lump sum and annual maintenance fee, Life Partners will receive all our publications plus all future publications (except newsletters where there is a limit to the number of subscribers due to the low liquidity of stocks that are recommended). The maintenance fee will be automatically renewed, at the price you originally signed up to the Partnership, until we are informed to stop, or one or more of the following events happen.

Lifetime subscription will end:

- on the earlier of your annual maintenance fee not being paid within 30 days of when it falls due, your death, your cancelling the subscription, PPP ceasing to be licensed or authorised to provide financial services, or PPP ceasing to operate its newsletter subscription business;

- if we decide, at our sole discretion, that you may be acting contrary to our interests or in breach of these terms and conditions.

If we are sold, our successor at law may decide not to make lifetime subscriptions available or may change the terms associated with them.

The initial lump sum and any annual maintenance fee you pay are non-refundable. The Lifetime subscription is non-refundable after the 30 day trial period.

A lifetime subscription is transferable only once on death of the original subscriber to a nominated person. The nominated person must agree to the terms and conditions of subscription for the transfer to proceed. The nominated person must provide their credit card details and payment for the yearly maintenance fee until they decide to cease subscription or until their death. Any payments made in regards to a lifetime subscription are non-refundable after the 30 day trial period.

Should you choose to cancel membership to the Partnership during the trial period any items or gifts you have received must be returned in original condition to receive a refund.

Commenting on our websites

You are welcome to participate on our websites by posting comments at the end of each article. Please note that in order to post a comment you will be required to submit your email address. This DOES NOT make your email address publicly accessible. Nor does it subscribe you to our e-letters.

You must submit a name to submit a comment, but it does not have to be your name - aliases are completely acceptable as long as they are unique and not meant to impersonate another person (i.e., “Barack Obama” is not acceptable) or are considered by Port Phillip Publishing, at its sole discretion, to defame another person, to be offensive or otherwise unacceptable.

You are responsible for the content of your messages and you are liable for activities conducted by you, or by others authorised by you, or otherwise acting on your behalf.

By submitting messages you agree to indemnify and to continue to indemnify Port Phillip Publishing to the full extent possible under the law against all claims, costs and expenses (including but not limited to reasonable legal and administrative expenses) arising out of any such messages.

Messages are submitted by users over whom we have no control. We cannot guarantee the accuracy, integrity or quality of these messages. Some users may breach these Terms and Conditions and post messages that are misleading, untrue or offensive. To the extent allowable under the law, you bear all risk associated with your use of our websites and you should not rely on messages in making (or not making) any specific investment or other decision. In the event that you have any right, claim or action against any users arising out of that user’s messages, then you will pursue such right, claim or action independently of, and without recourse to, us.

To the extent allowable under the law, we expressly exclude our liability for any loss or damage arising from the posting of messages by any person on our websites.

We have the right to moderate all comments and we reserve the right to remove any comments which we deem, in our absolute discretion, to be advertisements, offensive, illegal, defamatory, contain profanity, or are otherwise considered to be unacceptable.

Portfolio Performance and Returns on Stocks

All returns are hypothetical and based on the percentage change between the stock price at the time of recommendation and sell price or current price (if position is still open). Brokerage and any other associated costs are not taken into account.

Unlawful Activity

Port Phillip Publishing has the right to investigate any breach or complaint about a violation of these terms and conditions. Port Phillip Publishing will take any necessary action to protect itself and may report any unlawful activity to the relevant legal authorities.

Breaching the Terms and Conditions and Cancellation

Any subscriber or website user found to be in breach of these Terms and Conditions may have their subscription or website access suspended, amended or cancelled. We reserve our right to take whatever action is available to us under the law.

We reserve the right to cancel any subscription at any time, for any reason, regardless of whether a breach of these terms and conditions has occurred, except for Lifetime subscriptions which we may cancel only in line with the provisions under the heading 'Lifetime Subscription' in these terms and conditions. Where we cancel your subscription, the unused portion of your subscription will be refunded on a pro rata basis.

Changes to these Terms and Conditions

We may change all or part of these Terms and Conditions at any time. If we do, the new Terms and Conditions will be posted on our websites. Your subsequent or continued use of this website and/or receipt of our emails will constitute your acceptance of any changes. If you object to any changes to the Terms and Conditions, your only remedy is to discontinue your use of the website or cancel your subscription with us. As you are bound by these Terms and Conditions, we recommend that you periodically refer to them.
